

Participation in RSNA 2009 is Vital to Your Institution

The RSNA annual meeting is the preeminent forum to learn cutting-edge techniques, network with radiology leaders and witness the latest developments in medical science and technology.

Professionals who remain current with advancements in their specialty are better prepared than their competition to represent their institutions as top performers in the field. That's why, even in today's uncertain economic climate, registration for RSNA 2009 is on par with the record-breaking attendance in 2007 and 2008.

Healthcare leaders know that the RSNA annual meeting is the year's best opportunity to maintain their professional edge. The educational and scientific programs feature the brightest minds in medical imaging and the architects of technologies that are shaping the global future of medicine. The RSNA 2009 program offers thousands of scientific presentations and education exhibits, and the RSNA technical exhibition is the largest and most anticipated medical exhibition in the world.

This is an opportunity like no other for your institution. Benefits of attendance include:

- Up to 90.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™] for each physician
- Opportunities for CE and CAMPEP credits
- Face-to-face networking with colleagues and healthcare leaders
- More than 2,460 scientific presentations in 16 radiologic subspecialties
